History of Daylight Saving Time (DST)

Daylight Saving Time (DST) was first instituted in the United States during World War I, and then reinstituted again during World War II, as a part of the war effort.

Benjamin Franklin takes the honor (or the blame, depending on your view of the time changes) for coming up with the idea to reset clocks in the summer months as a way to conserve energy. By moving clocks forward, people could take advantage of the extra evening daylight rather than wasting energy on lighting. At the time, Franklin was ambassador to Paris and so wrote a witty letter to the Journal of Paris in 1784, rejoicing over his "discovery" that the sun provides light as soon as it rises.

Even so, DST didn't officially begin until more than a century later. Germany established DST in May 1916 as a way to conserve fuel during World War I. The rest of Europe came onboard shortly thereafter. And in 1918, the United States adopted daylight saving time.

Daylight Saving Time is now used in over 70 countries worldwide and affects over 1 billion people every year. The beginning and end dates vary from one country to another.

Mark your calendars for Sunday, November 5th

Five Ways to Be Safe and Healthy This Halloween

Don't let your health get tricked this Halloween! Here are a few ways to stay safe and healthy.

GET MOVING

Carve out time to be active this Halloween – between get-togethers and trick-or-treating in the neighborhood. Take a walk and do some weight training to help you feel good!

Regular physical activity can help control your weight, reduce your risk of heart disease and some cancers, improve mental health and mood, and increase your chance of living longer.

EAT WELL

Don't spend this Halloween filling up on junk food and sweets. Give yourself and your guests healthier choices and nutritious treats.

Fruits and vegetables are part of a well-balanced and healthy eating plan. Fruits and vegetables also provide essential vitamins and minerals, fiber, and other substances that are important for good health.

SCARE AWAY THE FLU AND COLDS

Don't get spooked by the flu, wash your hands frequently and get a flu vaccine, too!

Everyone 6 months and older should get a flu vaccine each year. Get vaccinated to protect yourself and your loved ones and learn about good health habits that can help stop germs.

DON'T BE A ZOMBIE

Sleep is important – even on Halloween! Adults need 7-8 hours each night. It's best for staying healthy and strengthening your immune system!

Insufficient sleep is linked to an increased risk for the development of Type 2 diabetes, heart disease, and obesity.

PLAY IT SAFE

Take precautions to stay safe while trick-or-treating on Halloween night. Watch out for cars, use reflective gear, walk with a group, and carry a flashlight.

Have a Safe and Happy Halloween!

Library Services

Children's Services

The Children's Room at the Central Library is a busy place! Over 150 people attended the two Books and Babies story hours on Monday and another 90 came for the Toddler storytime on Wednesday. In addition, popular children's author Tad Hills drew a crowd of 114 to hear about his new book Honk! Quack! Boo! Many parents purchased books from Whale of a Tale Children's Bookshoppe and then lined up for a very personal signing from the author. On Wednesday, 60 first-graders from nearby Harbor View Elementary visited Central Library to tour the library and get library cards. They each checked out a book and then the group enjoyed lunch in the courtyard. That was the beginning of our first grade class visits, with more to come.

New Wall Graphics

New graphics were installed this week on the columns near the public computer area on the upper level of the Central Library. The graphics draw attention to the services of the library and acknowledge the contributions of the NBPL Foundation in refurbishing the area with new computers and stalls.

Used Books

The Friends of the Library always amaze us with their hard work, but last week an overnight deposit of hundreds of used books at the entrance to the Central Library took a near Herculean effort by Friends and staff to clear before opening, followed by the Friends sorting and pricing for Book Store sale.

Literacy Happy Hour

Newport/Mesa ProLiteracy is hosting a fun author event with bestselling author Lisi Harrison this Saturday evening at the Central Library. Local author Lisi Harrison has written over 25 books and will be introducing her new release, The Dirty Book Club. Proceeds benefit our literacy services throughout the year.

Cultural Arts Services

Newport Beach Art in the Park

Last weekend's 14th Annual Newport Beach Art in the Park was a huge success. According to Carmen Smith, chair for the event, "Art in the Park 2017 was the best ever. It was really well attended with the number of guests exceeding 2,000. All this for a one day event!" The annual event, presented by the Newport Beach Art Foundation, featured artwork from more than 100 artists and artisans. Reports from the field indicated that artists were very happy with their sales of paintings, sculpture, jewelry, ceramics, glass art and other unique art pieces. The Daily Pilot published a half-page article with photos of the exhibits on Sunday.

Sculptures in Civic Center

Preparations for the Grand Opening of Phase III of the Sculpture in Civic Center Park Exhibition on Saturday, October 28 are in full swing. Pouring of the concrete pads for Burnt Matchstick and Life is a Balancing Act were completed this week and installation of the sculptures begins Monday. The community is invited to attend a special presentation at 1:30 p.m. in the Civic Center Council Chambers with an overview of the sculptures by Joe Lewis and Rick Stein, leaders of the exhibition coordinating team from OC Arts. The presentation will be followed by a reception where attendees will have an opportunity to meet with some of the artists and others involved with the arts in Newport Beach.

MY NB App

The City app is being updated with a self-guided tour of the Sculpture Exhibition so that guests can download the "MYNB" app and take a self-guided tour of the Civic Center Park and Sculpture Exhibition. The app includes GPS points for each of the sculptures with information about artwork and statements by the artists.

Balboa Island Bike Racks

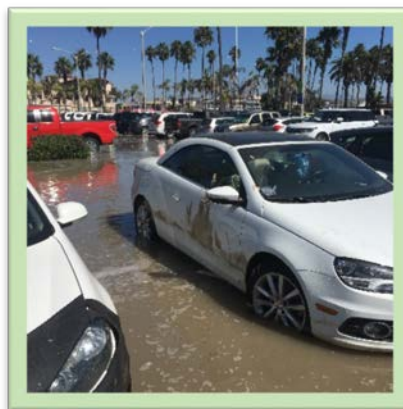

Recently, in coordination with the Public Works Department, MOD staff worked with OC Striping on the installation of five bike racks on Marine Avenue on Balboa Island.

As shown on the photo, the racks are located in front of an existing red curb on Marine Avenue. Added to the location were a bumper and appropriate stenciling to indicate Bike Station.

Recent High Surf Update

Over the past two weeks, Newport Beach has experienced extremely rare and high surf on our beaches. The areas most affected were from 44th to 56th Streets, as well as the Balboa Pier area. The high surf caused damage to a retaining wall at Balboa Peninsula Park and resulted in water in the parking lot and on some streets for a short period. Staff prepared for the surf event by building berms based on the predicted height. The surf crested berms standing 10 feet above sea level.

Next week's high surf prediction is expected to be higher than the last. MOD is scheduling crews accordingly to cover after hours response to restore berms as necessary.

Bench Donation

The Park Maintenance Crew recently installed a dedicatory bench at Buffalo Hills Park. The bench is in memory of Harrison Phillips and was donated by his neighbors in the community for his family. Dedication information included:

... Our neighbor across the street, Harrison Phillips, was killed in a motorcycle accident last weekend. He was only 22 years old, and had just completed his senior year at the university three weeks ago. We (neighbors who still are here) watched Harrison grow up on Port Tiffin. The neighbors on our street are all very close, and would like to do something to honor Harrison's memory; something very special for his parents Richard & Sheree. THANK YOU so much for your consideration of our request!

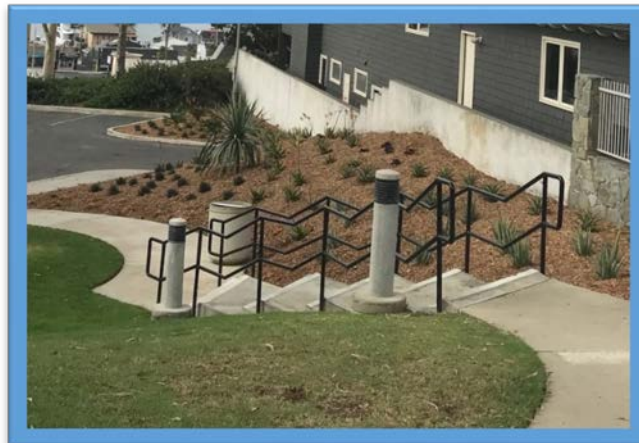

John Wayne Park Facelift

City landscape contractor Mariposa Landscape recently completed the upgrade at John Wayne Park. The project started in September with grubbing out all old plant material, grading the dirt to prepare for new plantings, and removing old tree stumps and roots.

The new plantings are water-saver plants: Brahea armata, and different types of Aloes.

Last Thursday afternoon, the NBPD received a special delivery. Friends, family and community members came together to bake, package and deliver over 900 cookies to the Police Department! Guided by a team of our Volunteers in Policing, the "Cookie Crew" made their way from workgroup to workgroup, bringing cookies and smiles wherever they went. They also delivered homemade cards, a banner... and even specially-baked dog treats for K9s Kajo and Hondo.

The cookies, we are pleased to report, were delicious... but the true sweetness comes from the sentiment behind this incredible project. We are so blessed to have the support of these incredible families and individuals.

CalRecycle Program – Putting Your Used Tires Back on the Road

Do you ever wonder what happens to your used set of tires? Have you ever paid the $1.75 charge per new tire without knowing what the charge is for? Tires are not biodegradable and do not disintegrate over time. In fact, tires can't be compacted and hold their shape and form forever. Most used tires end up at landfills and can potentially lead to dangerous "tire fires" if not properly handled. Emissions from burning tires contain significant amounts of human carcinogens which lead to serious health issues. The $1.75 charge is for proper disposal of used tires.

California, as well as several other states, have been repurposing these used tires, turning them into rubber playground surfaces and rubberized asphalt concrete for paving highways. As a result, millions of used tires have been diverted from landfills. Public Works participates in the California Department of Resources Recycling and Recovery (CalRecycle) program. As part of this program, Public Works receives partial reimbursement for rubberized asphalt concrete (containing recycled tires) which is the material used to pave our arterials. When compared to conventional asphalt concrete, rubberized asphalt concrete tends to have a longer useful life, is more aesthetically pleasing, and rides quieter. On average, a 2-inch thick pavement overlay contains about 2,000 tires per lane mile. MacArthur Boulevard, from Coast Highway to Ford Road, was the most recent project that used rubberized asphalt concrete.

It is nice to know that Public Works is doing our part in protecting our environment by diverting tires from landfills. As a bonus, we are also receiving grant funding from the CalRecycle program for using a superior product. Win! Win!
